Homecoming 82-83

C-L-A-S-S-E-N could be heard ringing through Taft Stadium October 21 when the Comets climaxed a week's worth of Homecoming activities with the football game against Southeast. The Bleacher Bums, drill team, and color guard all did their part to encourge our players. Although we lost the game, we had a great time. Injured football player, Delwyn Cosby was in inspiration to his fellow teammates as he watched from the sidelines.

Homecoming just wouldn't be Homecoming with the crowning of All-Sports Queen. Cathy Alexander, Lisa Davis, Queen Denise Bedell, Nancy Dixon and Diane Bedell are pictured here.

Floyd Martin directs the crowd toward their destinations. Usually there is a lot of confusion on that day and this year was no exception. That's what makes it great because it brings everyone close together. "Say cheese please," Wagner Studio photographer Sam Hayden says. Pepping it up! Ken Vawter and Curtis Danford put even more spirit into the day. Tom Utterback waits for his turn.

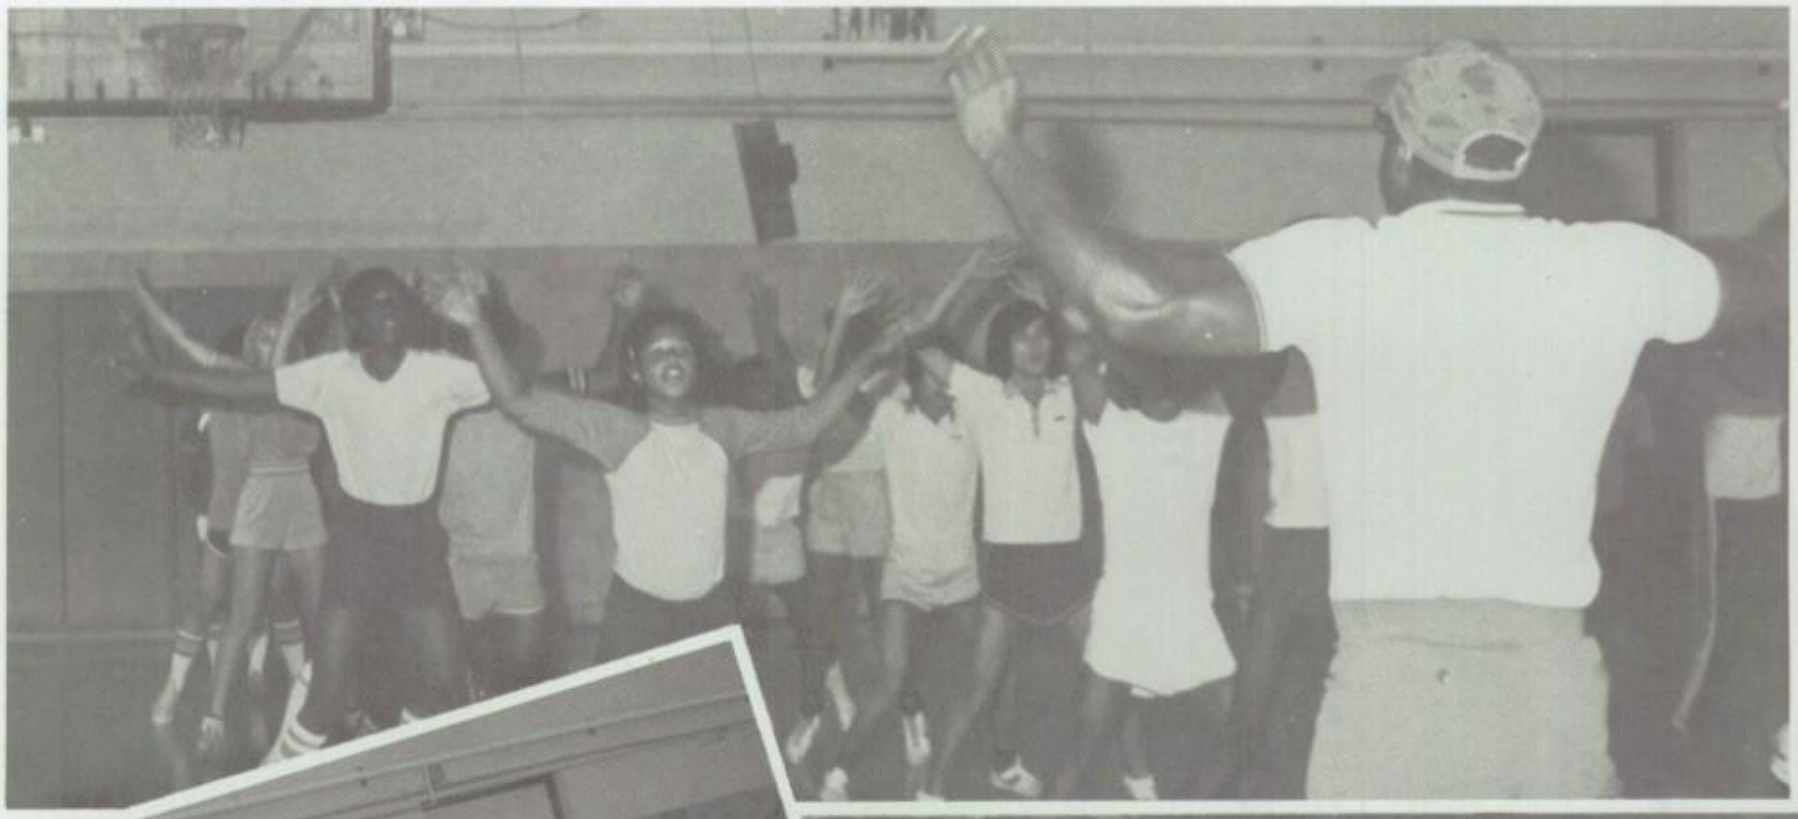
A s s Pep m b l y

To Classen High School, a pep assembly means getting together to raise school spirit. It takes enthusiasm, pride, and an optimistic attitude. We also show leadership and a sense of humor at an assembly (especially when the sound system breaks down). There is more to a pep assembly than the game . . . it's how much we believe in the team. Our teams try hard and the assemblies help them find the will to keep going.

Band provides music at all pep assemblies. Marcus Pernell and Tom Makey emcee a pep assembly. Don't worry Johnny Carson, there's no competition here! "I wish I knew how to paint," thinks Nancy Dixon as she lays a Capitol Hill Redskin to rest. Practice makes perfect!?!?!? Or so Lisa Davis and Tammy Whaley believe.



Stretch 23 45 67 8

Participating in a P.E. class is really not all that bad. For instance you can compete with your classmates in many different types of ball games, such as softball, basketball etc. By the way, you need lots of exercise if you expect to stay healthy and strong. A P.E. class can also teach you fundimentals of many exercises you can use the rest of you life. So when you get your schedule and see the big "P.E." on it, don't frown, just remember you learn something new everyday?

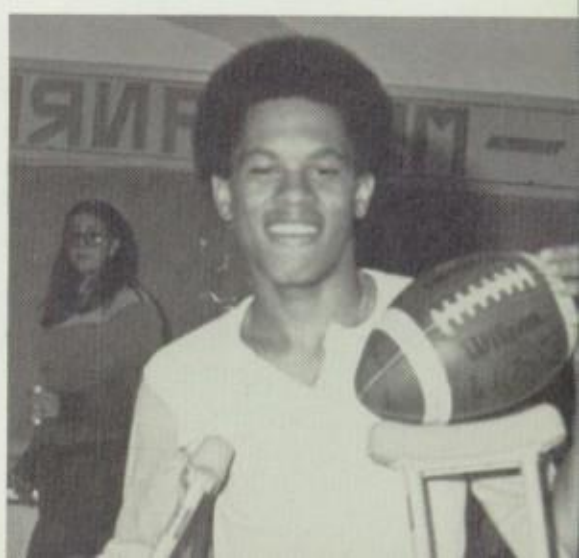
"You use two legs to run with, not one," instructs Coach Crane.

Which way did it go? Which way did it go?! That seems to be the question these Classen softball players are saying. They look real busy don't they? Lori Martin, Dorothy Baker, Karen Wheeler, and La-Shonda Johnson.

"Do You Think We'll Win?!!!"

That's right, hit 'em low, hit 'em hard, hit 'em quick!!!! Practice makes perfect. Steve Fulton and Antwyan Brown, along with many other players put in hours perfecting plays.

A simple one, two, three! Or so it seems. There are many things to learn even when you are not in an actual game. David Clark, Kenny Vawter, and Robert Phy. Kevin Phyffer proudly shows off game ball given to him by teammates following his injury in the Choctaw game.



"If Elected I Promise To . . . . . "

Class council campaigning was conducted the third week of school. Signs were made, posted and buttons were distributed. An assembly was held for each class to elect their officers. Every candidate was prepared for the job but only one was to be elected.

*After speeches were made and ballots cast, the decisions had been made. The candidates and winners are as follows: Seniors: Pres. Cathy Alexander, Ronna Pernell, Richard Harmon. Vice Pres. Classen students try to stretch each dollar as far as it will go. That isn't easy these days. One trip to the gas station for a fill-up may cost $20! And clothes . . . it isn't unusual to pay over $25 for a "label" shirt. But, of course, we mustn't forget the most essential item of a student's wardrobe . . . . . TENNIS SHOES. They range in price anywhere from $20 to $100. As the saying goes, "it ain't easy being a teenager."

The Look

Comets At Work

It's expensive to be a teenager these days. Nike tennis shoes, Polo, Izod, and Ocean Pacific T-Shirts, Levis, Lees, and other types of jeans and the upkeep of that new '83 Camaro can become costly. Many Classen students have found the solution to the problem, it's called work.

Classen students work at retail shops, grocery stores, fast food places, etc. They feel although it takes up some of their free time, work is well worth it.

Kristel Barth sorting mail at Presort. Some students even work at school like Mrs. Kopper's 2nd hour typing class . . . . . .*

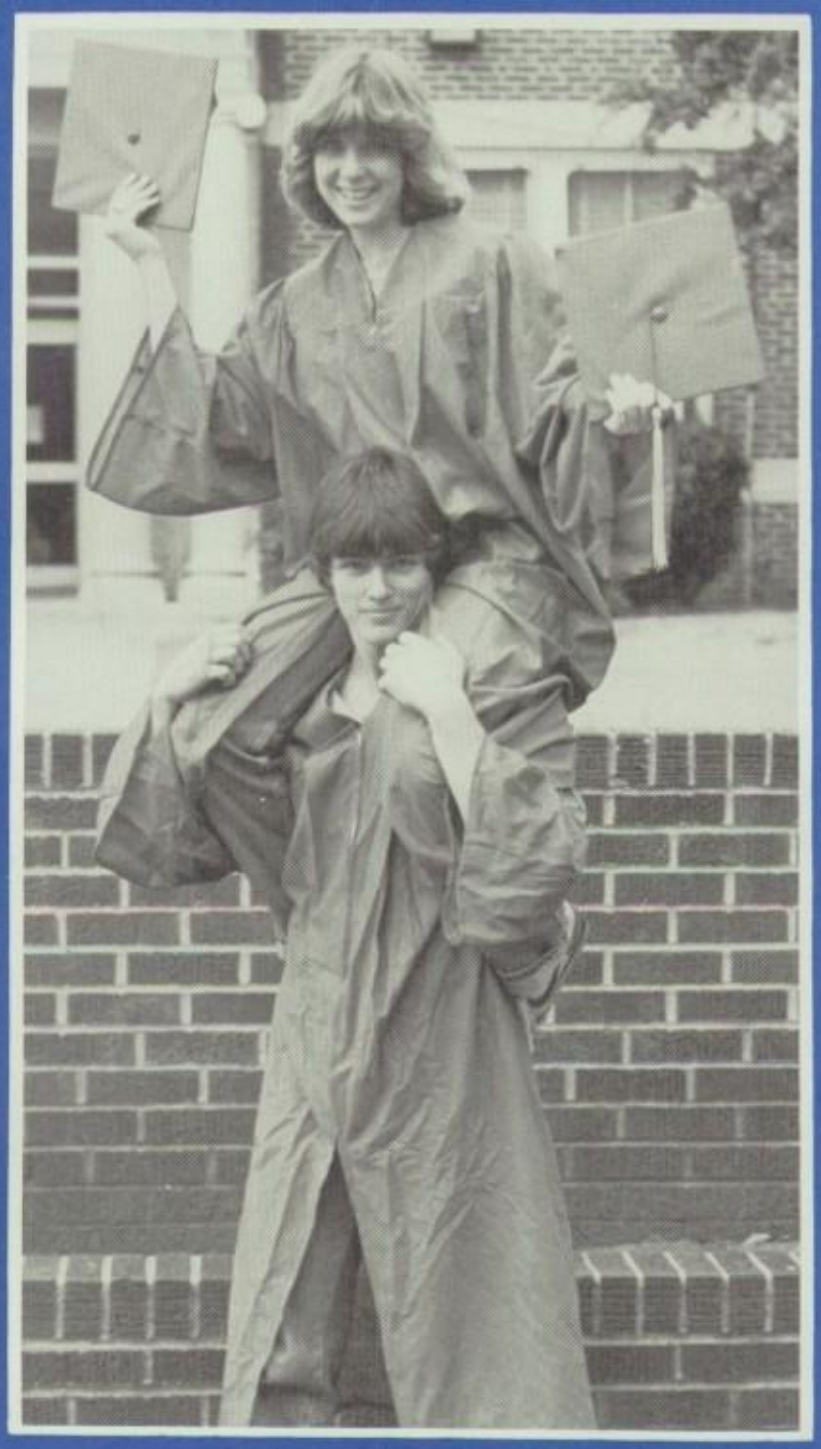
Graduation is a time to celebrate. It's a happy time, and yet such a sad one. It's a time to laugh and a time to cry. It's the beginning of the rest of our lives. It's a time to leave the Old (or Original), and go on to the new . . . . . .

Dear Classen High,

We met you, long ago (so it seemed), in a world of chaos-our freshman year. We got to know you, through all the good and all the bad, through all the experiences we had here. We grew up through you, and became young adults. We will now have to part, and go our separate ways. Feelings of sadness, and at the same time, gladness that is shared by all the graduating seniors. We cannot leave you without saying, Thanks Classen!



Goodbye

ORGANIZATIONS

Clubs help keep the students coming to school because they feel that club activity plus school work will help them achieve their goal in life.

— Floyd Martin

Clubs are a necessary part of the educational process. A club brings a sense of unity to people and shows that when people work together, things in life are a lot easier.

— Mary Travis

They make students feel a part of a situation and I think it helps a student mature.

— Koehler Johnson

Clubs tend to give the students a chance to play using the knowledge they have gained in class.

— Jean Munde

Clubs help students find leadership and loyalty. They also give us something to look forward to.

— Sandy Ferrell

Student clubs can help the students develope leadership qualities and abilities as well as helping to build friendships.

— David Partin

Clubs give the participants a boost in school and a reason for them to continue coming. If it wasn't for the clubs, there wouldn't be hardly anyone in school.

— Debbie Faulkender

School clubs are a great way to meet new friends and make school more interesting. Without clubs, who would support all of the extra fun things we do like Cupid Express, dances and bake sales. I think everyone should get in on the fun and be in a club . . . or two . . . or three . . . !!!

— Lisa Gendein

I think the clubs in school are important because if it weren't for being in the Red Cross, I wouldn't have been able to go to St. Louis as a representative from Oklahoma. Clubs are fun to get in to so you can participate in things outside the classroom. So, join a club now!

— Tony Rios

Student clubs are essential for helping students participate in school activities. They help with spirit and morale of the student in question.

— Scott Hooper

If you are in a club or two, they make you want to go on to bigger and better things. It also helps you build up your courage to do the things you were too shy to do before.

— Sabrina Young

CLASSEN LIFE

CLASSEN HIGH SCHOOL

CONTRIBUTING REPORTERS

Accuracy, Accuracy, Accuracy. The first three rules of journalism according to Mrs. Brule', are drilled into the minds of her Journalism I students, Classen Life's contributing reporters.

Each contributing reporter is required to write one story per issue of the school newspaper. Contributing reporters view their stories not only as a classroom assignment, but a way to show their expertise (or lack of it) in black and white for all to see.

Contributing reporters for 82-83 school year are: Jerry Baker, Valerie Coover, Debbie Faulkender, Sandra Ferrell, Terri Gaynor, Mary Simpson, Kim Tucker, William Watson, Anna Willis, Sabrina Young, Pamela Collins, Justina Bennett, Kristel Barth, Felisha Bruner, Nichole DuPree, Tracy Fields, Lisa Gendein, LaDonna Hardiman, Scott Hooper, Marcus Martinex, Lori Martin, David Partin, Gigi Payzant, Barbara Phillips, Michele Walsh, Karen Wheeler, and Joyce Tatmon.

CO-EDITORS

As part of their job as Classen Life co-editors, Floyd Martin and Kevin Phyffer, assist Mitzi Edwards with editing her copy. Both of them are required to turn in a story per week as well as performing specified editor's duties. Those duties range from delivering the newspaper to running copy to Foster Estes for printing.

STAFF

REPORTERS

"Stories due Friday," can be heard often during time block three in room A317. Classen Life's staff is always hard at work endeavoring to bring the school a quality newspaper.

Classen Life is a teaching tool for students interested in journalism. The paper gives the students a foundation on which to build knowledge and skills needed to pursue a journalism career.

In addition to being a teaching instrument, Classen Life is also an open forum to student opinion, ideas, and creativity. Any Classen student is encouraged to contribute stories, ideas, poems or editorials at any time. Unfortunately, this priviledge is not used to its fullest capacity.

The newspaper is totally self-supporting. In order to raise the $140 monthly needed to pay Foster Estes Vo-Tech for printing the paper, advertising is sold for $2 per column inch. Typesetting is graciously donated compliments of Mr. Rex Travis, Oklahoma City attorney and avid Classen Life supporter.

Classen Life is pleased to be a member Oklahoma Interscholastic Press Association and the American Scholastic Press. Through these organizations, the school newspaper entered monthly competitions as well as an overall newspaper format judging.

BRULE`

Ahhhhhhhhhhhh! Deadlines! Pressure! Finances! Tis the life of a newspaper advisor and Classen Life's Sherry Brule' loves every minute of it.

"Each issue we must deal with the financial question, will we have enough money to go to press?" says Mrs. Brule'. "Somehow we always made it and are proud of our product." Unlike other programs, my newspaper staff sees a definite end product--the newspaper containing their work.

Red Cross

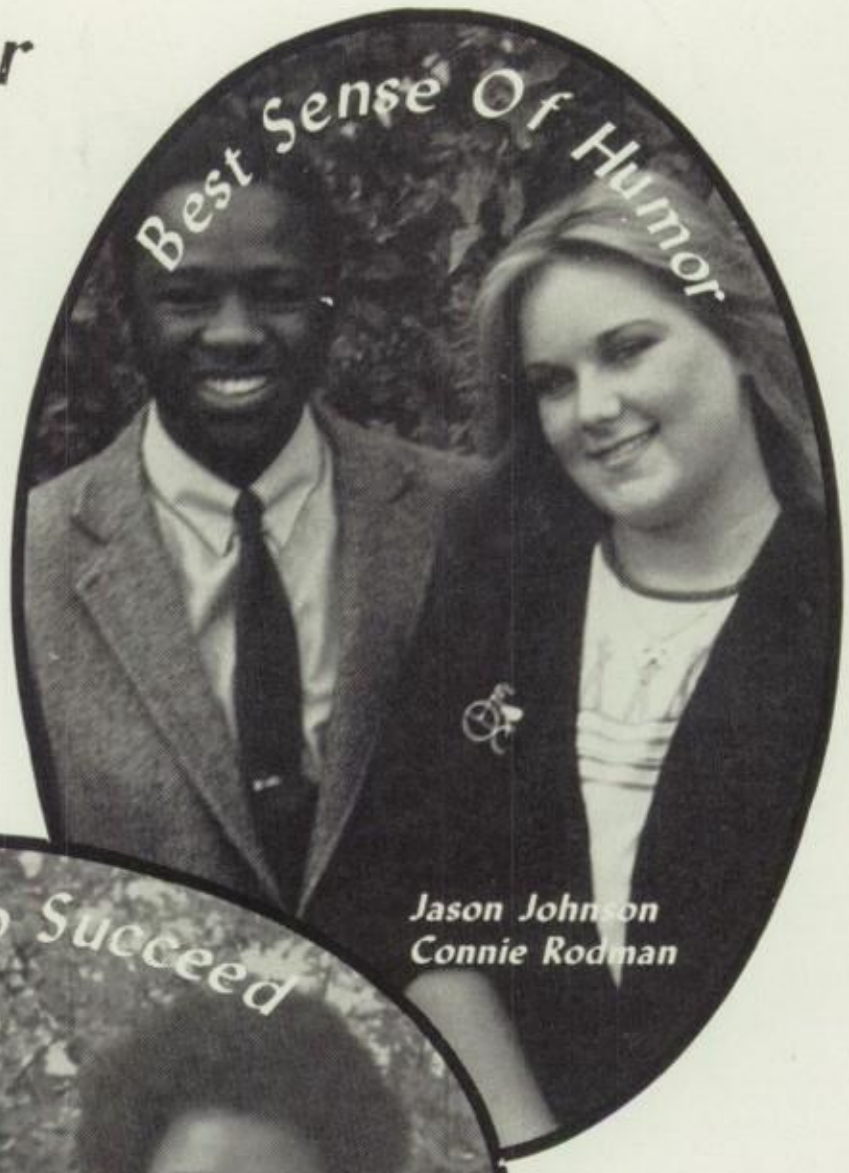
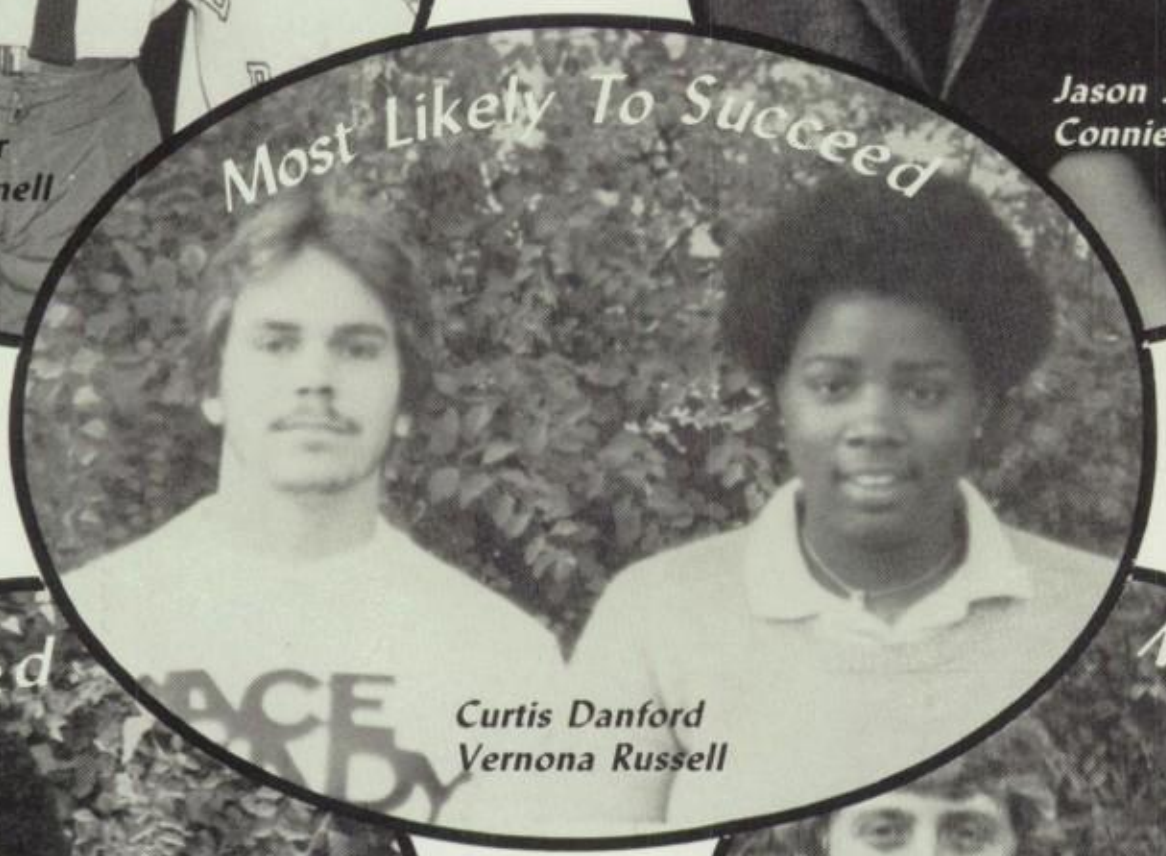
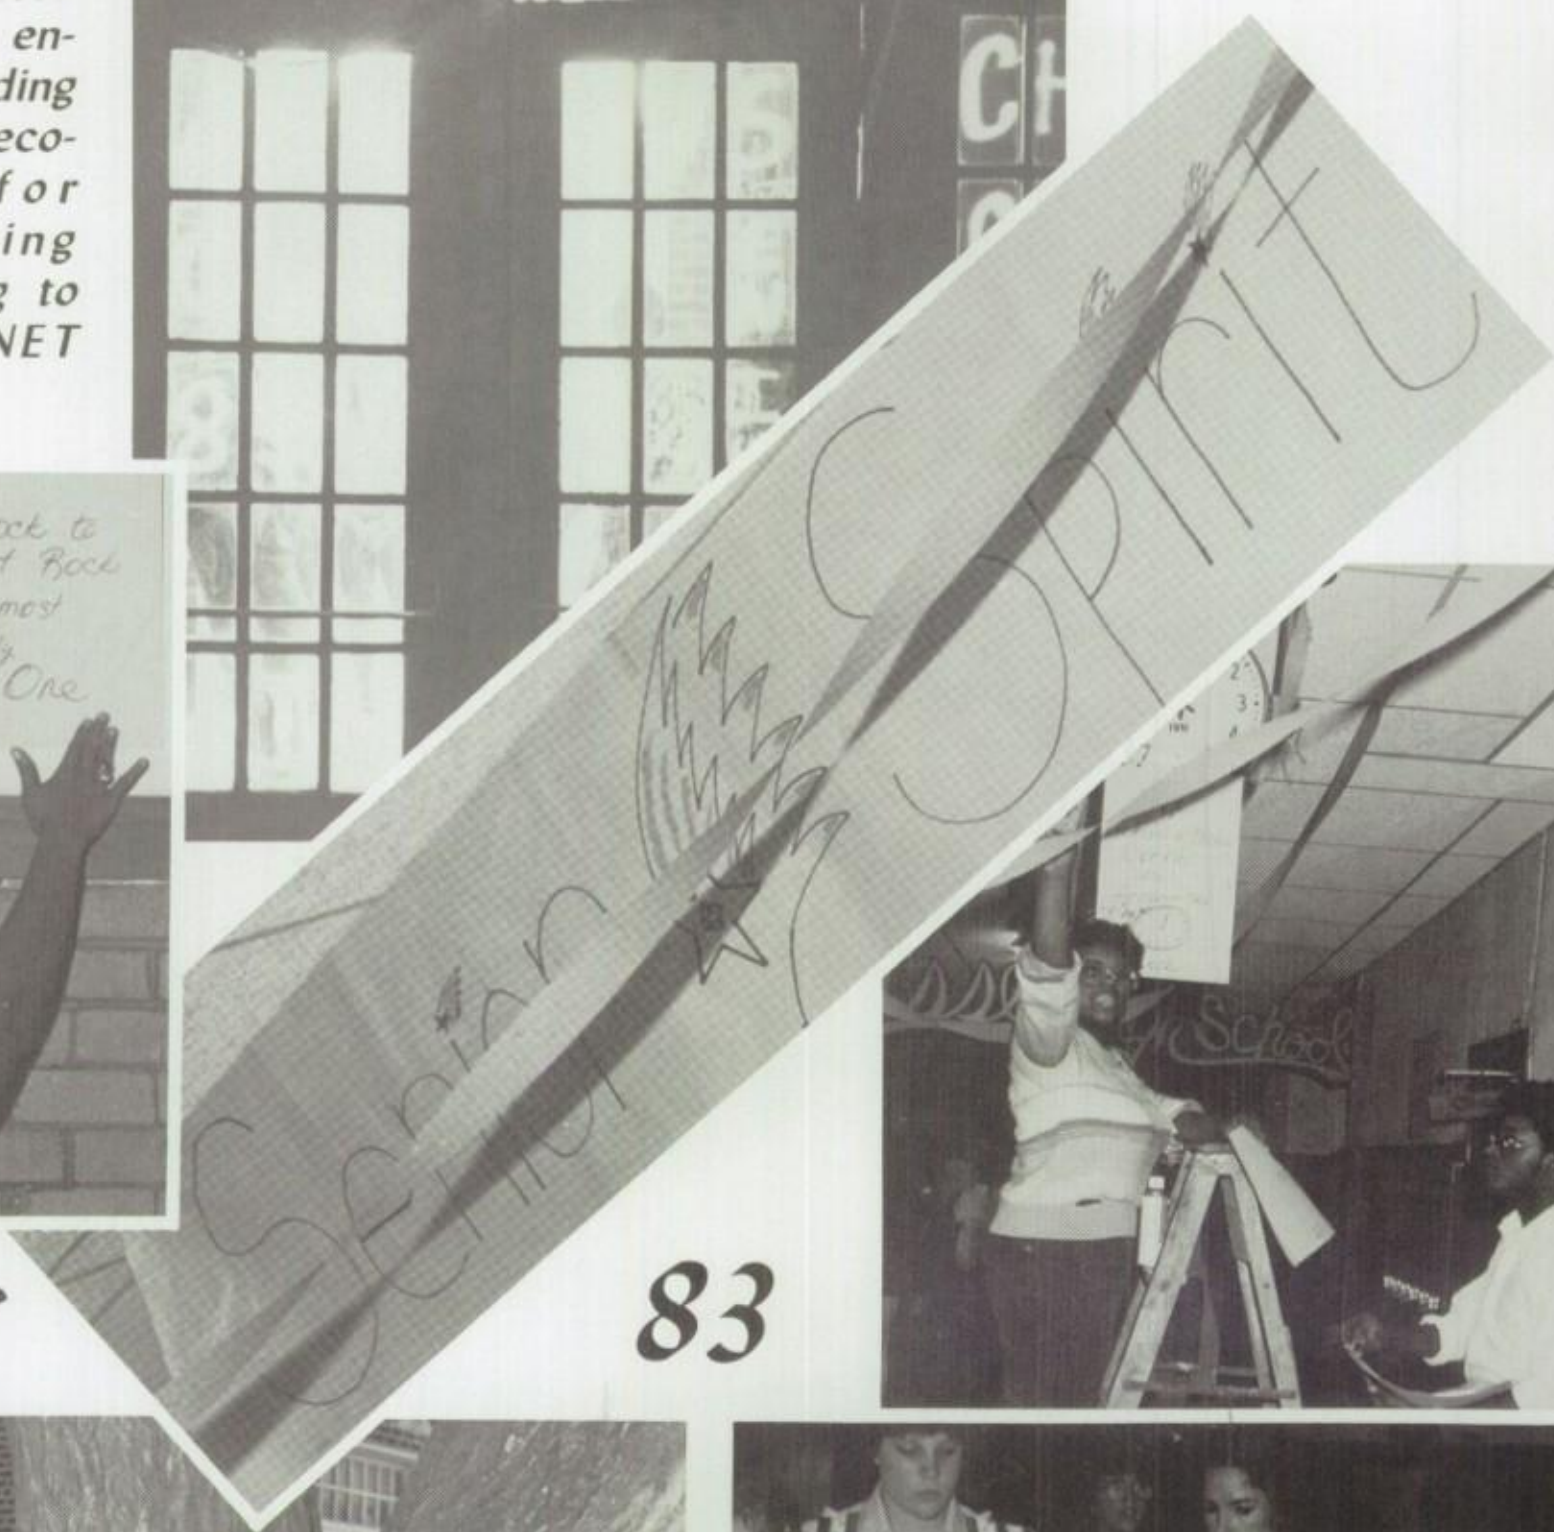
Senior Class Favorites





"Seniors, Are The One!"

The seniors at Classen enjoyed spending their time decorating for Homecoming and rocking to the PLANET ROCK.

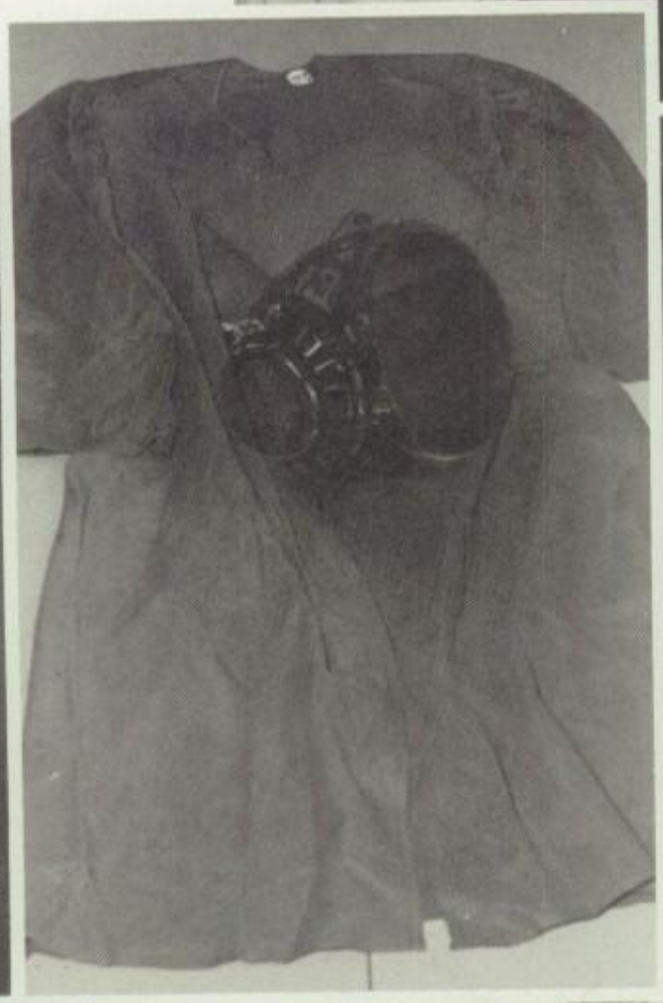


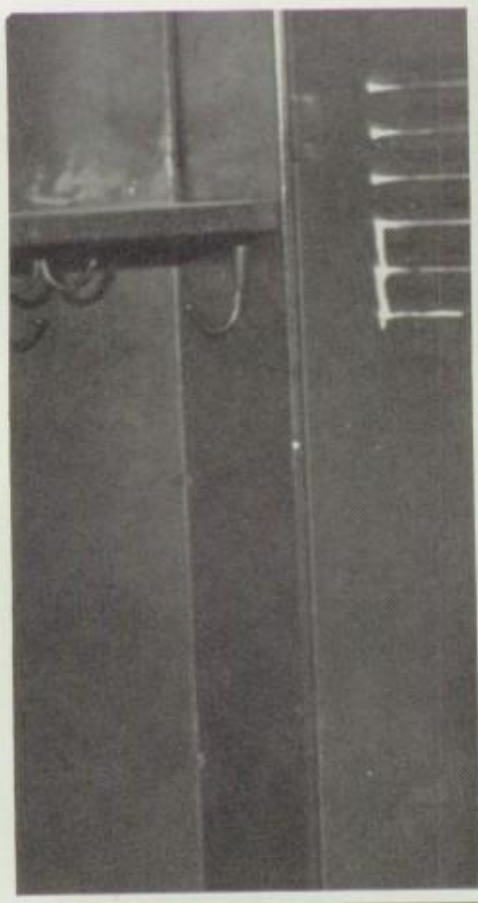
Senior 83

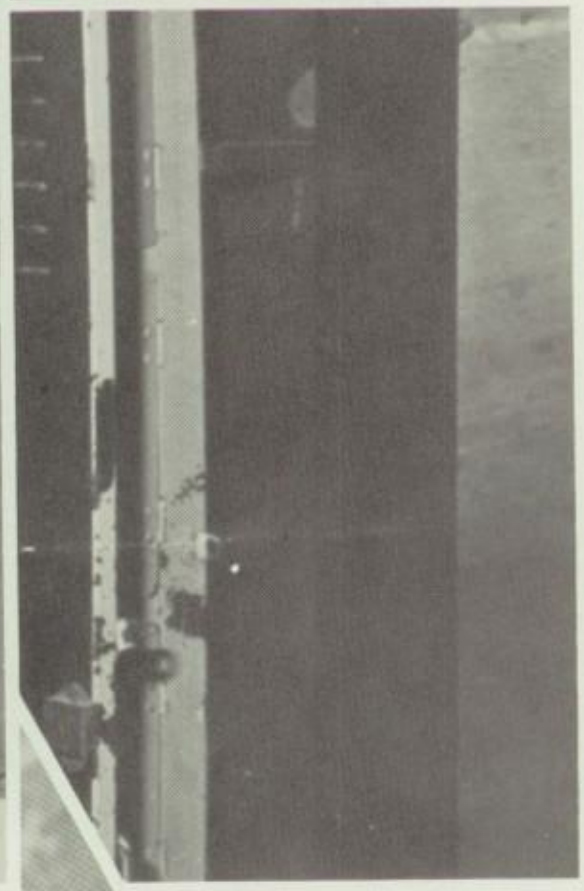
All-Sports Queen candidates: Cathy Alexander, Lisa Davis, Denise Bedell, Nancy Dixon, and Diane Bedell.

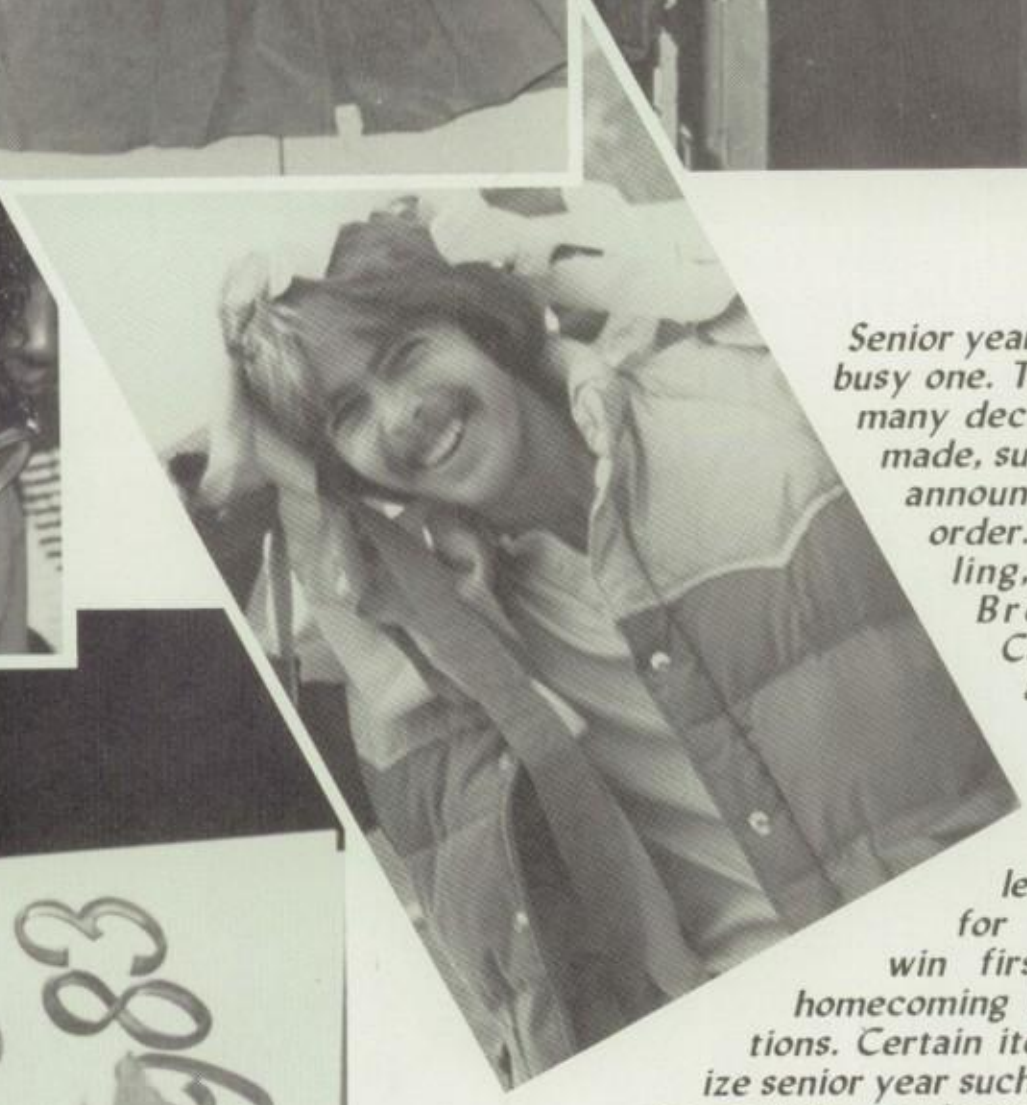
Seniors, Kristi Kalman, Renae Goodwin, Lisa Farney, Curtis Danford, Nancy Dixon, and Steve Utterback

Seniors Look On









Senior year is always a busy one. There are so many decisions to be made, such as which announcement to order. Bella Sterling, Antwyan Brown, and Cathy Alexander find it a difficult choice. Ty Gonzales leads the way for seniors to win first place in homecoming hall decorations. Certain items symbolize senior year such as the class ring and the graduation robe. The end is here. Empty lockers wait once again to be filled.

Richard Harmon, Connie Pickett, Angie Williams and Sheila Mosely register to vote while Mary Fox looks on.

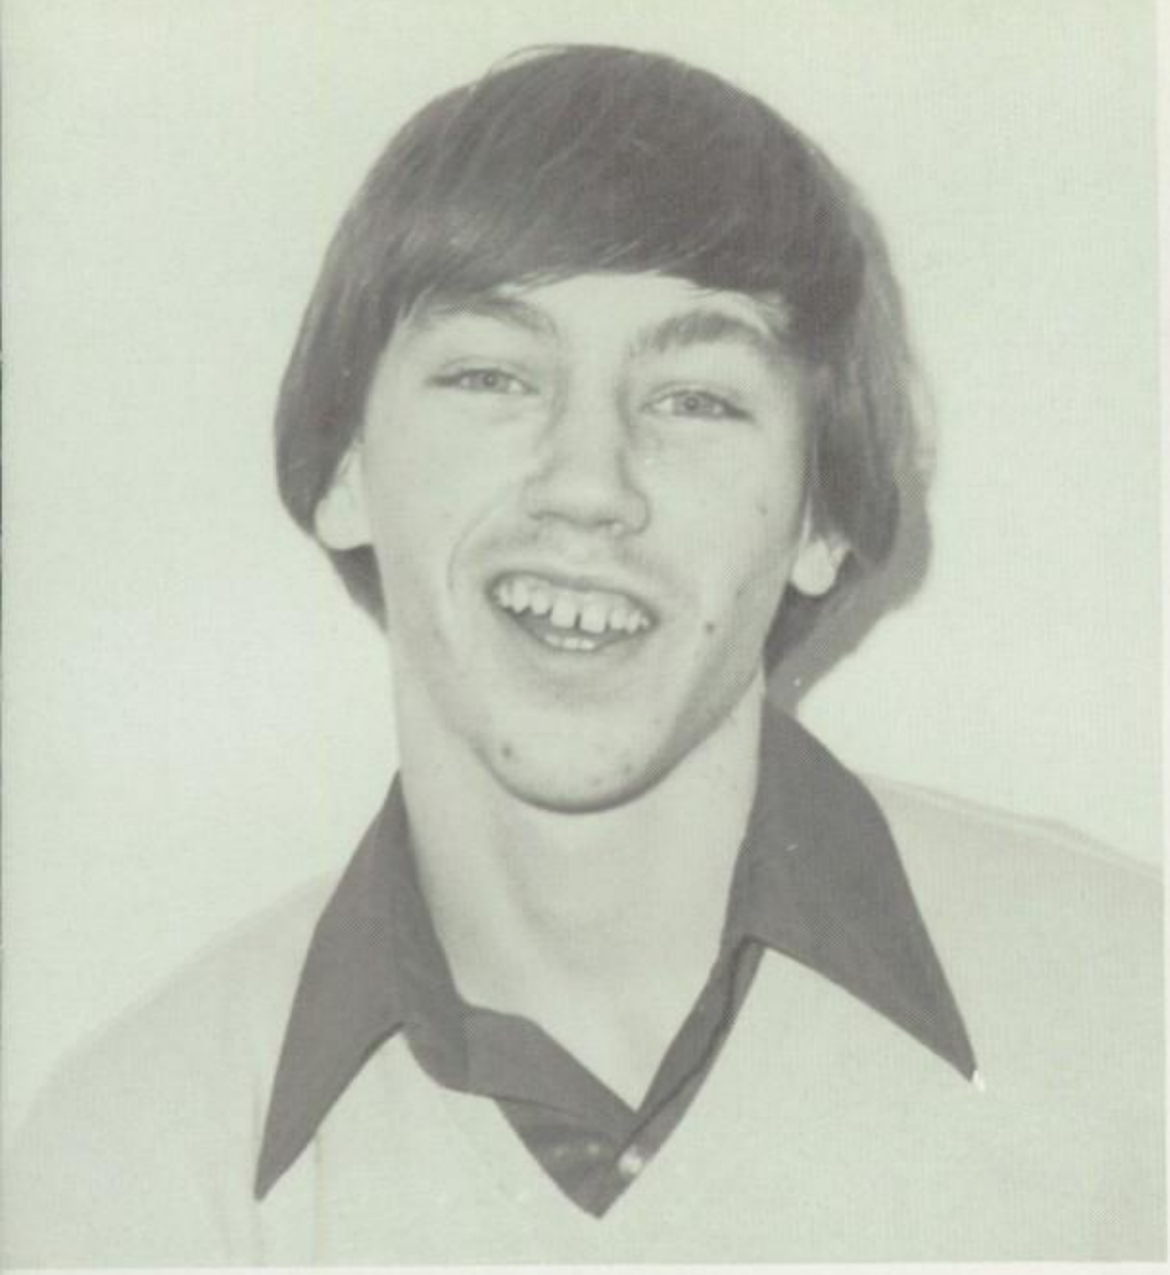
Honors

Royalty



John Lyon

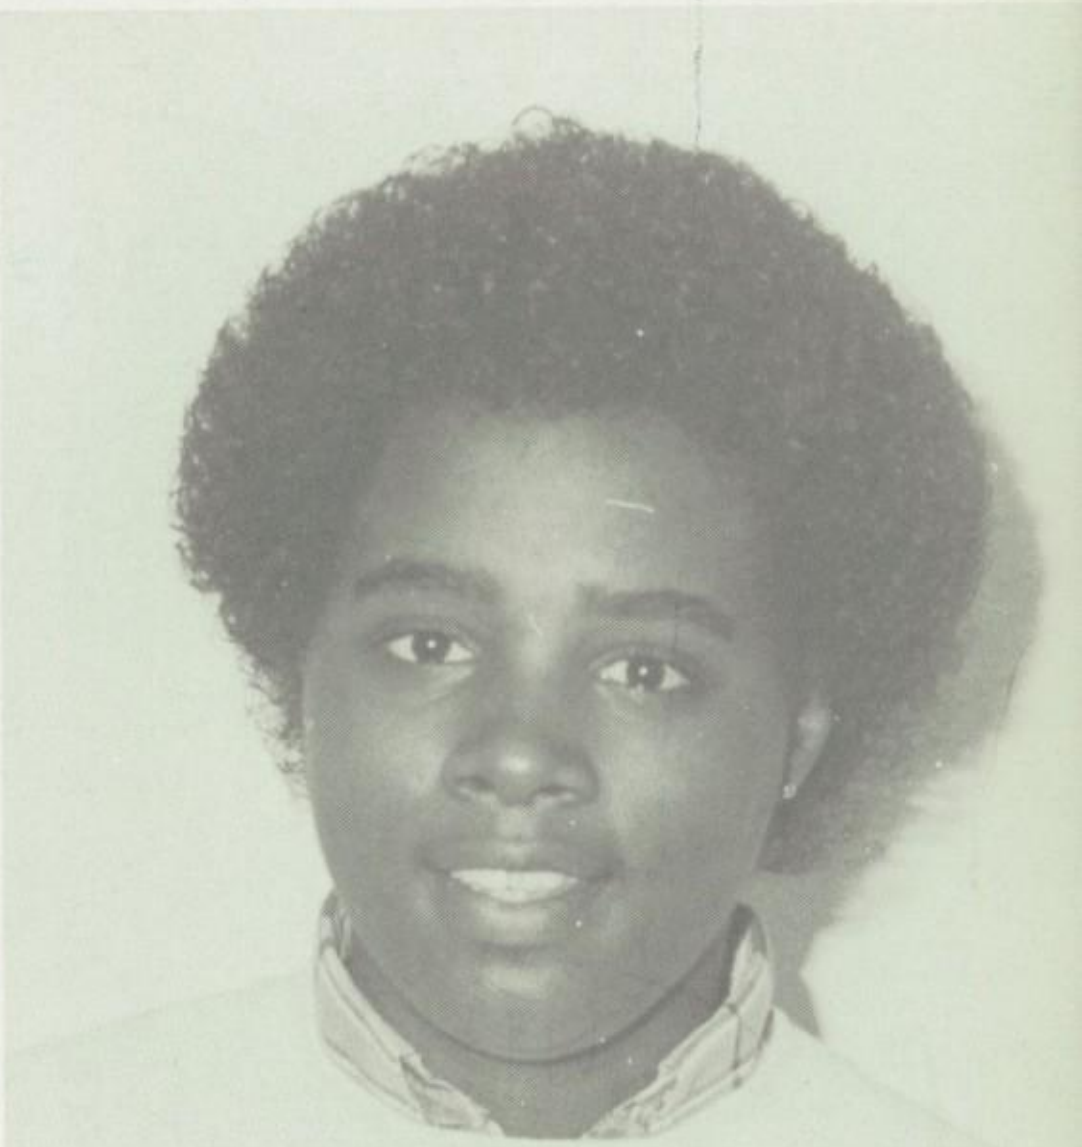
Each year Classen High School bestows upon two students, one male and one female, the Anton H. Classen Medal of Honor. This award symbolizes strength of character, outstanding record of scholarship and qualities of leadership. To each student who receives this award, these standards have been met and lived by faithfully and willingly throughout their four years at Classen.

John Lyon has been the recipient of many awards. Among them are: Outstanding Freshman Band Student; Southwest Regional Mathematics Association Award, English Award, and last year he auditioned and was accepted into the Oklahoma City Honor Band. He has been a member of the National Honor Society for three years and band for four.

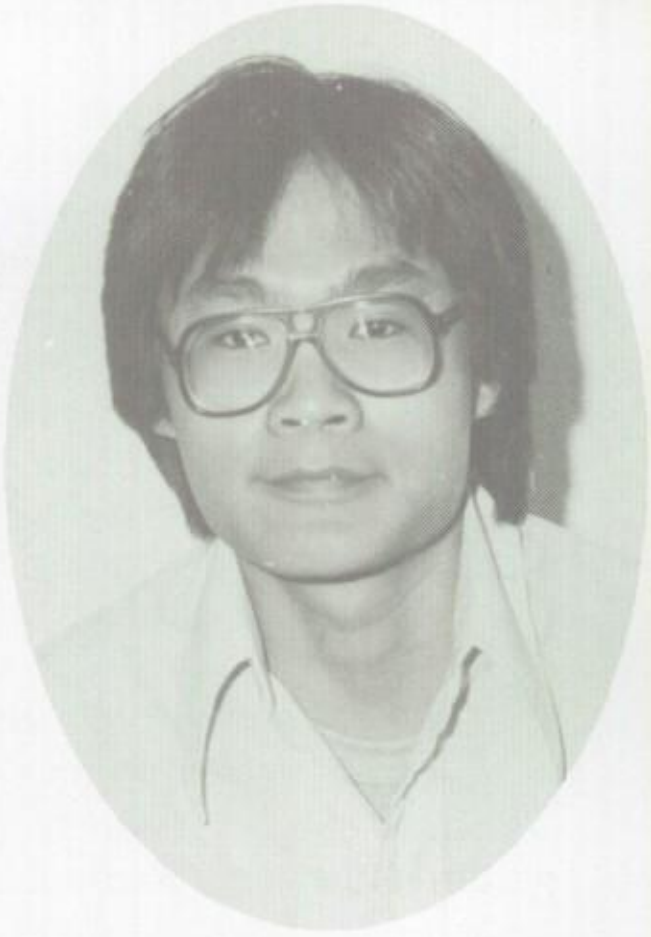
Classen Medal Of Honor

Verona Russell

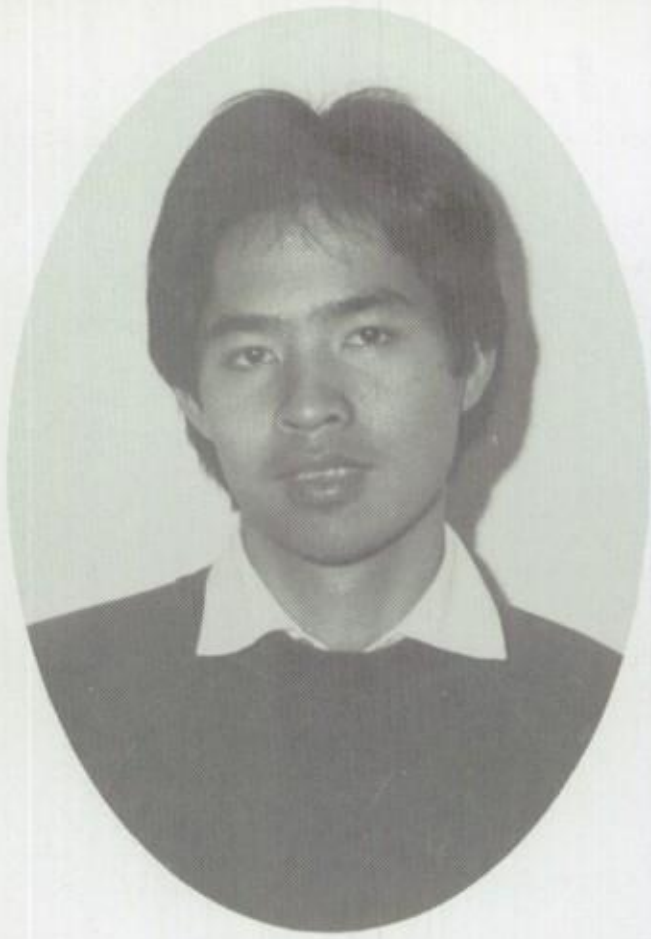
Vernona Russell has been an active participant in any club to which she has belonged. For example: National Honor Society president, vice president and secretary; president of the Junior Class; secretary of the Senior class; Pep Club; FBLA—attended the FBLA state leadership conference and placed in Accounting II competition. She has also received her share of recognition in the form of awards. Service Award, Who's Who Among American High School Students, Vo-Tech Achievement Award, and Outstanding Senior in banking Accounting II are a few of them. She attended Girl's State the summer before her senior year.



Anton H. Classen Award



Bang Nguyen



Minh Nguyen

Classen High School is named after Mr. Anton H. Classen, once a prominent Oklahoma Citian. In 1925, he established the awards we now know as the Medal of Honor and Anton H. Classen Awards. The Medal of Honor traditional goes to the top senior boy and girl. Running a close second are the Anton awards which are presented to the next top male contenders. The Ella B. Classen awards were later established to honor his wife. They are presented to two deserving female recipients.

Mr & Miss Merry Christmas

Classen High School's Band, under the direction of Mr. Koehler Johnson, conducted their annual Christmas fund raising project.

Money was raised via the Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas competition. Each Classen club elected their candidates for Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas. Students then cast their votes for candidates in the form of a penny a vote.

Antwyan Brown and Valsherri Hill representing the Classen Band were chosen as 1982-83 Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas.

Cole Has Class-en

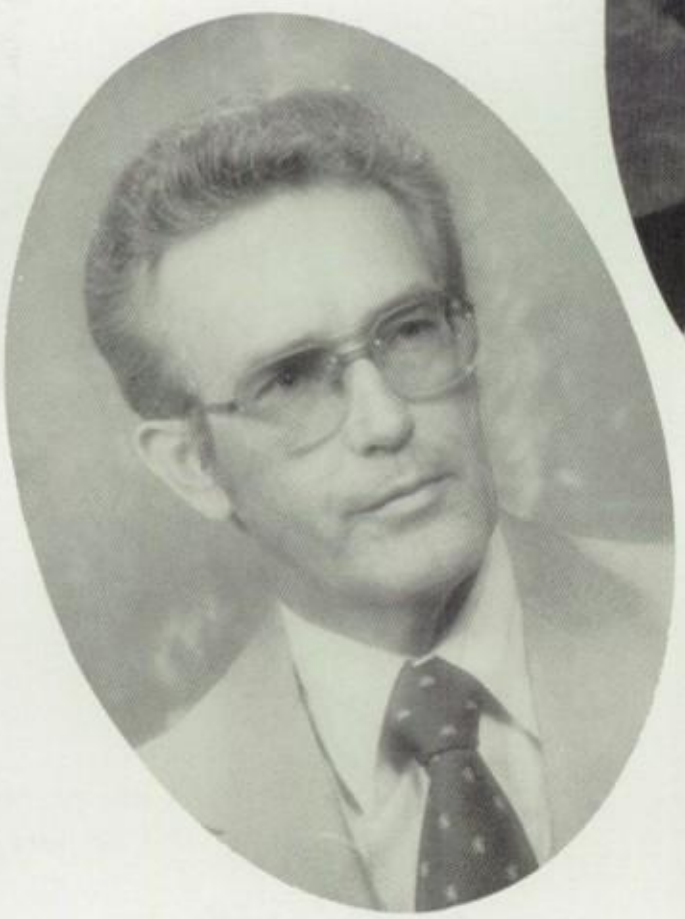
Former Classen High industrial arts teacher Mr. Tyrone Cole returns to his old stomping ground as the school's new principal. Administrative duties are not foreign to Mr. Cole. Prior to his appointment as principal he served as assistant principal at John Marshall, Northeast, Northwest, and Capitol Hill.

Mr. Cole graduated from Central State with a bachelor's in Industrial Arts as well as a Master's in Secondary School Administration.

Vice-Princi-Pals

Jamie Lindsey, Administrative Assistant

Mrs. Jamie Lindsey is the Administrative Intern at Classen this year. Being an Administrative Intern takes a lot of patience, especially when it comes to handling the students. As usual, Mr. Lewis is being shy. Mr. McCain knows that even vice-principles need some affection sometimes.



Robert McCain, Vice-Principal

Excuses for Being Late:
1. Alarm clock didn't go off.
2. Locked my coat in the car with the keys in the pocket.
3. Car got hooked to a tow truck and towed me to Norman.
4. I had a flat tire and didn't have a spare.
5. Stopped at Winchells for a doughnut and they weren't finished baking them.
6. Sister took too much time in the bathroom and it was 8 a.m. before I could get in there.
7. You see, there was this gorilla. . . .

Excuses for Not Having Homework:
1. My little brother flushed it down the toilet.
2. As I was making a sandwich last night, I dropped a piece of bologna on it and the dog ate it.
3. On the way home on the bus, it flew out the window. I swear, I think it just sprouted wings.
